DETAILED ACTION

Specification

1. Applicant is reminded of the proper content of an abstract of the disclosure.

A patent abstract is a concise statement of the technical disclosure of the patent and should include that which is new in the art to which the invention pertains. If the patent is of a basic nature, the entire technical disclosure may be new in the art, and the abstract should be directed to the entire disclosure. If the patent is in the nature of an improvement in an old apparatus, process, product, or composition, the abstract should include the technical disclosure of the improvement. In certain patents, particularly those for compounds and compositions, wherein the process for making and/or the use thereof are not obvious, the abstract should set forth a process for making and/or use thereof. If the new technical disclosure involves modifications or alternatives, the abstract should mention by way of example the preferred modification or alternative.

The abstract should not refer to purported merits or speculative applications of the invention and should not compare the invention with the prior art.

Where applicable, the abstract should include the following:

- (1) if a machine or apparatus, its organization and operation;
- (2) if an article, its method of making;
- (3) if a chemical compound, its identity and use;
- (4) if a mixture, its ingredients;
- (5) if a process, the steps.

Extensive mechanical and design details of apparatus should not be given.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

Art Unit: 2655

(e) the invention was described in a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent, or on an international application by another who has fulfilled the requirements of paragraphs (1), (2), and (4) of section 371(c) of this title before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent.

The changes made to 35 U.S.C. 102(e) by the American Inventors Protection Act of 1999 (AIPA) do not apply to the examination of this application as the application being examined was not (1) filed on or after November 29, 2000, or (2) voluntarily published under 35 U.S.C. 122(b). Therefore, this application is examined under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) prior to the amendment by the AIPA (pre-AIPA 35 U.S.C. 102(e)).

3. Claims 1-11 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Smith et al (6184823).

As per claims 1,9-11, Smith et al (6184823) teaches a voice recognition navigation apparatus (col. 5 lines 49-53) comprising:

A voice reference apparatus (col. 6 lines 10-21)

A map information storage device that stores map information (col. 6 lines 22-32)

“a control device.....said map information” as route guidance based on speech input (col. 6 line 64 – col. 7 line 9)

“said voice reference apparatus.....classifies a plurality of search targets....division blocks.....specifying a search target.....made by voice....a first storage device....division blocks....a second storage device.....specific relationship.....recognition data selection device....vision block has been specified” as geographic database responding to a location request, breaking the information into nodes

Art Unit: 2655

and routes, points of interest and likewise subsets (col. 9 line 8 – col. 11 line 45; Figs. 1-6)

“a voice recognition processing device.....specified by voice” as output data, derived from speech input, given back to user as speech (Fig. 1, subblock 31)

As per claims 2-7, Smith et al (6184823) teaches the claimed subdivision of data (col. 9, lines 14-40, and associated figures)

As per claim 8, Smith et al (6184823) teaches a display showing the results of the search, and the target location (Fig. 1, subblock 27).

Conclusion

4. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Please see related art listed on the PTO-892 form, especially references pertaining to inventions by Navigation Technologies Corp.
